FALSE PAPERS SECURED.

A QUICK ROAD TO CITIZENSHIP.

CAPTAIN BELL TELLS A STARTLING STORY. At the close of yesterday's session of the Congressional Committee on Immigration, Chairman Ford said that the testimony taken during the day was the most important and startling that had yet been heard. Henry J. Jackson, superintendent of Castle Garden, was examined on the condition of affairs in his department. He said in substance that the German, English and Scandinavian immigrants were as intelligent and as desirable a class to-day as those of twenty years ago, but the races coming from Southern Europe had greatly deteriorated. The inspection now was more rigid than ever before. He thought that it was possible to obtain correct answers to the various questions that were put to newly-arrived immigrants. The trouble was not in the difficulty of detecting, but of detaining those not entitled to land. Every case of detention had to be reported to the Collector of the Port, who decided what further action was to be taken in the matter. During the past year 354 had been returned. while nearly as many more had been detained but had been allowed to land by the Collector. He thought that this number covered all who might be detained in accordance with the in-

The two inspectors provided by the Collector were insufficient. The Commissioners did not take any part in detecting cases of contract labor, because the Treasury Department had decided that no such duties were imposed upon the Commissioners under the existing contract between them and the Secretary of the Treasury. The Commissioners, nevertheless, were willing to assame these extra duties if the Treasury Department would meet the additional expense of detecting, detaining and guarding contract-labor cases. This the Secretary had refused to do. The inspectors should be put on board the steamships at Quarantine.

structions received from the Secretary of the Treasury, although more ought to be detained.

A BETTER PLACE TO LAND THAN CASTLE GARDEN.

Governor's Island would be better adapted for the landing of immigrants than Castle Garden. The most objectionable classes, in the witness's opinion, came by cabin and not by steerage passage. He did not think General Spinola's idea of requiring certificates of good character practicable. Foreign Governments were too desirous of getting rid of their worst subjects. A large number of Italian criminals had been detected and returned to Italy, whose passports were all correct. He would suggest that three mouths' notice of rson's intention to emigrate be required, that

He had never found good grounds for the complaints of fees being demanded and extortionate charges being made at Castle Garden. A man would be dismissed who accepted a fee of 10 cents in the control of the control to choose their own railroads in going West. Every one bought his ticket as he saw fit, and if families were separated it was due to the fact that carelessness had been shown in the purchase of tickets. He was not nawre that any of the Commissioners were interested in the tailroads which enjoyed the privilege of having agencies at Castle Gorden. Mr. Jackson was asked to request the Collector of the Port in the name of the committee to reconsider his decision to return the Behneke family, who seemed likely to become a public charge. The father has been offered a position at $10 a week, and the committee thinks there is not sufficient ground for returning them.

Walter McIntosh, secretary of the United States Watchmakers' Association, testified in regard to several instances of skilled laborers being imported to this country by the Waltham Watch Company, of No. 5 Bond-st., in this city. A number of contracts were submitted by him to the committee to be used as evidence.

SECURING FALSE NATURALIZATION PAPERS. After the first few words of the testimony of Captain Francis W. Bell had been taken, a buzz of excitement went through the room, and reporters and visitors crowded up nearer to the w.tness-stand. Captain Bell had in a dozen words told how naturalization papers could be taken out by any one in a few hours, on payment of $10, by false swearing. He had been a Hell Gate pilot false swearing. He had been a Hell Gate pilot for eighteen years and knew of many cases where foreigners had secured false naturalization papers in order to take command of vessels engaged in the coasting trade. He said that the papers were secured by Charles Lockwood and William Kay, both of Brooklyn. Lockwood had told him that he was intimate with Judge Moore's son, of Brooklyn, who did all the work before the Judge got to his office in the morning. Lockwood told him that the Judge had said that it "was all right." He gave the memes of several Nova Scotians who had taken out their papers by this means. They still continued to live in New-Brunswick or Nova Scotia, but were engaged in the American coasting trade, sailing vessels many of which were owned by English lumber companies. Most of these, after becoming so-called citizens, commanded vessels ostensibly American, but one man named Priest changed around from English to American vessels, as his inclination or interest directed.

"Why have you never reported this to the

"Why have you never reported this to the Collector of the Port?" interrupted General Spinola.

"I saw the Collector about the matter, and he sent his deputy to Brooklyn on the case. That was the last I ever heard of the affair. I then went to Inspector Byrnes, who wanted to get one of these bocus papers. He put a detective on the case, but he was subsequently taken off. This was in June last."

"Did you see the Collector in person?" was sked. "I did. I will say that Mr. Magone's deputy seemed to think that Nova Scotians had as much right to command American vessels as American citizens." D. I cold that an Englishman named aptain Bell said that an Englishman named

Palmer had got his naturalization papers within two weeks after his arrival in this country. Through his occupation as a pilot, he knew most of these men well. In conversation with him they had asked him to say nothing about the

HOW THE PAPERS WERE OBTAINED. William Kay was next sworn. He denied that he had ever had any business relations with Charles Lockwood. He had assisted people to become citizens, but only in four instances. One of these men was his father. He had forgotten the name of one of the other three. It might be He did not think it strange that he could not remember his name. He had known him a great many years, otherwise he could not have acted as a witness when the papers were being taken out. They went to Judge Moore's court. He did not know Judge Moore or his son. Deputy-Sheriff Ross had never assisted him, nor had he himself ever received any compensation for his assistance. He had met a man named John Haley, who had offered him $25 if he would get him his naturalization papers. He had promised to get them, but he never intended to keep his word, for he was not engaged in that kind of business. He had met him the next day by appointment, but he had not been on the point of handing him the papers when Deputy Sheriff Ross motioned him to stop. He knew nothing about a man named Palmer.

At this point of the testimony, however, the witness became so entangled in the mesh he had woven around himself that he finally came to a full stop and then confessed everything. A man named Palyless had asked him to get Palmer's papers. He met Palmer at ten o'clock one morning and went with him to Brooklyn, where He did not know Judge Moore or his son.

A man named layless had asked him to get Palmer's papers. He met Palmer at ten o'clock one morning and went with him to Brooklyn, where they were joined by Deputy-sheriff Ross. Bayless had told him that the man was all right, and he had taken his word for it. Ross had taken Kay's word, and the two acted as witnesses, swearing that they had known Palmer over five years, and that he was entitled to become an American citizen. The process of becoming a citizen of the United States had required two hours' time and the sum of $10. Kay received $2.50 as his share of the profits. By this time the witness had become so pliable that his memory could easily be refreshed, and he recalled other cases similar be refreshed, and he recalled other cases similar to the Palmer instance.

The investigation of this manner of obtaining naturalization papers will be continued to-day with Ross and Lockwood on the stand, if they can be

A RECEPTION FOR CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW The friends of Chauncey M. Depaw and his fellowmembers in the Union League Club of this city, of which he is the president, are arranging to give him a reception on his return from Europe on September 2. He sails from England on Saturday of next week. Besides his usual welcome by his numerous ratiroad associates and intimate friends down the Bay on the steamer's arrival, he will have a reception at Union League Club on the evening of Tuesday, September 4. It will be somewhat informal, open to the members of the club and its invited guests. Mr. Blaine would be present were it not that he has an engagement to speak on the same day in the Maine State campaign, which has just opened. The committee having the reception arrangements in charge have not completed their plans. It was learned vesterday that Mr. Depew returns with the expectation of taking as active a part as his business will permit in the campaign in this State and in the general work of securing the election of Harrison and Morton.

THE MAYOR MAY GET A LETTER.

Senator Passett, of the Senate Investigating Com-mittee, said yesterday that the Aqueduct inquiry would certainly be resumed on Monday. "I can't say now who will be our first witness," he remarked. "We have subpoended Mayor Hewitt, John O'Brien, ex-Mayor Grace, Mr. McCulloch, and several others. I sincerely hope that Mr. Hewitt will not again delay our work by absenting himself when we need him. If he does I may write him a letter," and the Senator smiled. "We are going to finish this thing within a fortnight, if possible, and you will see lively times unless I am greatly mistaken."

Dr. Aveling comes here for the atrical purposes. He is as strong a Socialist as ever, he says. Since he was last here Dr. Aveling has had six plays accepted by London managers. One is a version of Hawthorne's " scarlet managers. One is a version of Hawthorne's "scarlet Letter." Miss Alma Murray, who Dr. Aveling describes as the coming English actress, has accepted one of his plays, and he is writing another for her. Dr. Aveling is also interested in a comedy which is "running wild" at the Strand, and will, he says, be brought out here by Christmas. Dr. Aveling hopes to place some plays here to be given about Christmas time.

AN ATTEMPT TO BRACE UP MR. BRICE.

From The Baltimore American.

"The American." in its well-known goodness of heart, "The American." in its well-known goodness of heart-feels a certain hind of sorrow for Mr. Chairman lirice and his committee. They are manifestly wanting in push, but this comes, perhaps, from want of confi-dence or confidence run to seed. Mr. Brice fluids himself in a novel position. Organizing a railway syndicate to raid a great millionaire, requires, of course, audacity, craft and executive ability, but these gifts may not, unless supplemented by others. syndicate to raid a great millionaire, requires, at course, audacity, craft and executive ability, but these gifts may not, unless supplemented by others, avail for the fortunate leadership of a great political campaign. This, we suspect Mr. Brice has discovered, as the President has, and this is what constitutes Mr. Gorman, the latest type of "the man who laughs," But what rouses our special sympathy is the severe and sarcastic criticisms of the committee, from Democratic sources, just as it had inaugurated what Mr. Brice, in a moment of pleasantry, called an intellectual campaign. Instead of appreciating this unusual strategy, and waiting for it to take root, some of the big New-York papers, squinting at free trade, pour hot shot into headquarters, and make a noise that is expected to rouse Mr. Brice from his somnoiency. They do not want him to take any naps, and trust to the Cloveland fetish. He must shake himself, and try to regard the Presidency as a nichel-plated prize. They even go so far as to hint that Colonel Henry Watterson has, like Lockinvar, "come out of the West" to take command or infuse, Rentucky fashion, some spirit into the concern. Not only is Watterson thus playfully put forward, but he is described as executing a war-dance with his coat off. In this torid season, we should not bisme the Colonel if he ront his garments so that he emulated the historic Georgia major, who stalked about with a shirt collar and a pair of spurs. The next thing we shall hear is that Colonel Watterson has been reinforced by O'Donovan THE DEMOCRATS INACTIVE. QUARRELLING OVER THE TARIFF ISSUE. THE WHOLE CAMPAIGN RAPIDLY BECOMING DE-

MORALIZED.

The anxiety of the Democratic leaders who have gathered at their National Headquarters in the past two days has been so deep as to be commonly obhim John S. Barbour, of Virginia, Arthur Sewell, of Maine, ex-Senator Barnum, of Connecticut, William R. Morrison, of Illinois, Colonel Bradley B. Smalley. of Vermont, Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, E. Henderson, of Indiana, and a number of other leading workers of the party. The only agreement between them has been that it is necessary to make a strong at the September election, and for this purpose M Sewell is said to have received authority to expend $200,000. There is an immense amount of money at the command of the committee, and this sum is a mere bagnielle out of the large fund that has been raised and that has been promised before the end of the campaign.

ious about Virginia. The committee is disposed, on account of the differences there between the Republican factions, to believe that there is no necessity for expending any money or labor to keep the State Democtatic. Mr. Barbour has labored ineffectually to convince them that Virginia has only gone Republican when the Republican forces have been divided, in campaigns in which the opposing factions have come ogether at the last hours of the canvass. He has pointed out to the committee the danger that, while General Mahone and the Anti-Mahoneites are both drawing a large number of voters from the Democratic party, through opposition to each other, they will effect a union later in the campaign and sweep the State.

tariff question. "Horizontal Reduction" Morrison and the Star-Eyed Honry Watterson are disgusted because Mr. Brice and Senator Barnum, who are tariff will not flood the country with Free Biterature. On the other Brice and Barnum have been insisting that these gentlemen shall unite in demanding that the President shall so far modify his Free Trade views and declarations when he comes to issue his letter of acceptance that it will be acceptable to the Protective Democrats. Mr. Brice persists in telling them that unless the free trade label can be taken off the Democratic party it is doomed to defeat. These difforences of opinion are so marked that the employes about Democratic quarters begin to talk outside an express their opinions on one side or the other in the orridors of uptown hotels, faking sides according to their personal relations to the different leaders.

far as can be ascertained it is Chairman Brice's ntention to run a hide-and seek campaign. His idea is to send free trade documents into the cural districts and protective tarisf literature into the manufacturing towns. The President's message and the Mills bill will be used to satisfy the free traders, and he has demanded that President Cleveland shall so word his letter of acceptance that it can be used to satisfy righting is far from satisfactory to the gentlemen who have been in conference with him, and some pretty tail swearing has been done, not only about the head-quarters, but about the hotel corridors. The differences mentioned are coupled in conversation uptown with reports that President Cleve land and Chairman Brice have had a war of words. in which the chairman was worsted, and that, as a consequence, Senator Gorman, of Maryland, is coming here to run the campaign, while Colonel Brice takes a back seat. Members of the committee who were asked about this subject last night refused to discuss it, and Chrisman Barnum, when approached about it was as sour as that famous bear with a sore head. The apathy in the Democratic ranks is paralyzing and terrifying to all the leaders. President Cleveland is said to charge it on the inaction of the committee, while Chairman Brice places the responsibility on the party leaders, who, he declares, say that the trouble is with the Administration, from which they can get neither recognition, satisfaction nor offices. It is the offices about which they compasin most. The President has ignored Civil Service reform, they say, to reward personal friends and Mugwumps, but whenever a party leader wants anything he is snubbed. Besides, many forcing the free-trude issue. The criminations and recriminations growing out of this condition were prerecriminations growing out of this condition were pre-sented to the President's consideration at his recent conference at washington with Colonel Brice. The President simply refused to do anything. "I am nominated. You must elect me or be defeated." was the sentiment of his talk.

Four years ago Chairman Gorman felt empowered to "promise the earth" to working Democrats, who were looking forward to the spoils of office. Chair-man Brice has nothing so offer but ten-dollar bills out of his willboundedly campaign fund, and he linds

There is a great hue and cry being made at the Democratic Headquarters, as there is in Democratic papers throughout the country, over Mr. Blaine's reference "trusts" in a recent speech, but the older heads are disposed to say little on the subject. "They may well be slient," said Colonel Dudley, in speaking on this point, "for every one knows that the heaviest contributors to the Democratic campaign funds are the representatives of these "trusts" and monopoles. They know it and we know it, and they know we know it. They had better keep still."

WINNERS OF THE TROPHIES.

A LIVELY CONTEST IN A STRONG HEAD WIND. NEW-YORK YACHTS AT NEWPORT-THE MAY-FLOWER DEFEATS THE PURITAN BY OVER HALF AN HOUR-THE GRAYLING DISABLED.

Newport, Aug. 17 (special).-This was a great day's racing by the New-York Yacht Club fleet. The wind was blowing hard, and the boats that started did some deep salt water sailing which was to their credit. When the color gun boomed over New-Redford harbor this morning, the yachtsmen rubbed their sleepy eyes in the face of a brisk west-southwest wind and the stiff breeze kept up all day, developing its strongth until it blew little short of a gale. The start for the fourth and last run for the squadron cruise Trophy Cup was over a line between the Electra and Clark's Point Light, at the entrance to New-Bedford Harbor. The yachts were well bunched for the line, when the preparatory gun was fired at 10:10 a. m. and at 10:20, when the starting signal was given, the Grayling had turned herself so as to cross first, the Puritan following her closely. The May flower was then half a mile astern of the Boston The Clio. Bertie. Intrepld. Dauntless, Sachem and AO lon were faunched between them and the Pal mer and Katrina, Iroquois and Cinderella, Bedouin and Papoose, Nymph and Ramona came along in pairs as na med. The Miranda was a mile astern of the Sachem and the Ramona gracefully brought up the cear. The tia e and order of starting were as here given, twenty-th'o boats being entered:

sired to try her speed with the Pancose, and her time was taken by courtesy. The yac'tts all got away on the starboard tack and it was tack, tack, every few minutes the whole way. The wind was west-south west and blowing twenty-five miles 3.1 hour. The run was therefore a dead thrash to wind's ard, with a slach tide, over a course of twenty-seva, nautical miles. The Mayflower came in a winner by 33 minutes and 53 seconds, an unprecedented vectory in that class. For Monday's race the Mayflower is called a winner, and there are few who doubt that the prophecy will come true.

The sactiom and Grayling of course had a great race. About a mile to feeward of the Hen and Chickens Lightship the Grayling ran aground, but got loose by raising her centreocast, she pinchily continued in the race, hewever, and did marveillously well considering later discoveries as to her injuries. She was only beaten a mile, and on arriving in this harber anchored in deep water to examine her bottom. It was then discovered that her centreboard was practically demolished.

The hounds ren fast, dirst going north, then west and then north, when they doubled completely and ran southeast for two miles. The distance covered was eight miles, and the time about one hour. J. M. Waterbury's hunter got stuck on a barbed wire fence and was considerably cut. This was the only mishap. The sport was heartily enjoyed, even by the most thorough sportsmen, the country being stiff enough for everybody. The only ones in at the death were the master and his two whys. Center Hitchcock, F. M. Ware, Jack Lyons, William Lyons and John Hunt, Others who started included Foxhall Keene, Benjamin Weaver, R. Baldwin, C. C. Baldwin, jr., Moses Taylor and A. H. Sands.

THE LAST DAY AT ROCHESTER. Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 17.-The Circuit races closed here to-day. The 2:33 trotting class had twelve entries. Nellie G. was the favorite, at $35, Elda B $28. Argentine $20, field $12. The favorite was shut out in the second heat and Elda B took the race in three straight heats in 2:25 1-4, 2:24 1-4 and 2:23 1-4.

The 2:30 consolation race for horses that did not share money in the Piower City, called out twelve entries. Judgment alone being drawn on account of an injury to one of his feet. Geneva S., who lost second place in the race Tuesday on account of alleged foul driving, was a hot favorite, selling at the opening for $25, field $5. The favorite won in three straight heats in 2:21 3-4, 2:21 1-2 and 2:21 1-4.

The last race of the meeting was the 2:17 pacing class under saddle. Black Henry was drawn, for leaving four starters. Kinsman sold in the morning at $50, field $16, but later Grover C. was picked had broken up house-keeping, but that was all. He also said that his wife was less ill than home-sick, when she sailed, although she was naturally frail and would succumb to any such severe

The meeting between the husband and wife the night before was an affecting one. When she was taken up to the door and the bell had been rung, her little niece came out, but upon seeing the poor woman in her forlorn condition, the child gave one look, and then rushed into the house crying: "Aunty has come back! Aunty has come back! Mr. Lind at once ran out and saw his wife, who threw herself into his arms saw his wife, who threw herself into his arms with a despairing cry, and then sobbed out several

The start of husband could hardly realize the truth at first. He could not speak a word, and allowed his wife to fall in a dead faint upon the floor. Persontly he recovered however, and floor. Presently he recovered, however, frantically picked up his wife, while he bitterly. He learned the whole truth in earts from his heartbroken wife, and then his expair was equal to her own. When seen yester-ay, the two were looking steadfastly at each day, the two were looking st other, but uttering not a word.

DESOLATE HOMES IN THE WEST. CHICAGO PEOPLE WHO WERE ON THE ILL-FATED STEAMER.

Chicago. Aug. 17.-The agents of the Thingvalla line in Chicago received several telegrams from New-York this morning, and finally made out a complete list of Chicago people who were on the ill-fated Goiser. The list comprises the following: Mrs. A. M. Petersen, Kersten and Lena Lorensen, Miss Hilda Solberg, Captain George Hammer, Highland Park, Mrs. Ellen Nelson, Gusta Adler, C. C. Braaten, H. L. Lie, O. M. Olander, Mrs. Sechus, Paul Paulsen, Lars Rommerdale, John Tenwold, Chris. Eliassen, J. G. Johansen and John Martin Seehus, of the "Skandinavon," whose wife was lost on the Geiser, was found by a reporter early this morning at his home. On the announcement of the sad news the beseaved husband burst into tears and aexhously inquired for particulars. "We wmarried five years ago," he said, brushing aside tears, "at Christiania, Norway, her home. father is a Lutheran minister of that city. Eight days after the wedding we started for Chicago. She was going to visit her home for the first time since then. She had a premonition that she would not reach home, She had a premonition that she would not reach home, and talked of waiting until the next steamer. I insisted that she should go on this to avoid the fail storms. I wish I had not. I dreamed last night that the vessel she was on had sunk. She was the best swimmer in the Christiania Natatorium, but I can't glean much nope from that, for a women in the occan waves is but a feather. I still hope she may be saved. She wrote me a letter from New-York full of happy thoughts. Miss Soiberg, of this city, was on the delser with her. She too, I suppose, is lost." Miswankee, Aug. 17.—A dispatch to "The Evening Wisconsin" from Minneapolis, Minn. says: "J. Gustavsen and child, of Grantsburg, Wis., bought tickets in Minneapolis for the librated Geiser and are among the lost. There are sho two Minneapolis and five St. Paul people among the lost. It is also learned that an Eau Claire passenger was in the sunken steamer." NOT SO HOT, BUT MORE OPPRESSIVE.

SEVERAL DEATHS PROM SUNSTROKE-A COOL WAVE COMING.

The air was full of humidity yesterday, and there fore the heat, which was ten degrees less intense than that of Thursday, was more trying and the number of deaths and cases of prostration much greater. At Hudant's the thermometer's highest record was 85 degrees, and the Signal Service maximum record was 84 degrees. The humidity in the atmosphere ranged ar various times from 70 to 80 per cent.

In the afternoon a heavy shower of rain fell and there was a slight electric storm-nothing more serious than a few flashes of lightning and one or two thunder claps. This made the atmospheric conditions much more pleasant, the mercury in the thermometer delightfully cool. Thus the predictions of the Signal service Bureau, which foretild warm weather with local rains, were fulfilled to the letter. If the next effort made by the official weather prophets is equally successful, New-Yorkers should to-day have rain, local storms and cool winds from a northerly direction.

The cool wave will be here to-day or to-morrow. The forlowing deaths from sunstroke and heat occurred
